Invitation

Dear Sir/Madam,

It gives us immense pleasure to invite you to the National Seminar on "Roadmap for Inclusive Growth & Development of India" Sponsored by ICSSR-NERC, scheduled to be held on 20th & 21st January, 2023 at Holy Cross College, Agartala. We, humbly extend our cordial invitation to all professionals, researchers, students, academicians and stakeholders to kindly participate in the seminar and present a paper. We look forward to your presence and active participation which will give us the opportunity to organize the seminar efficiently and make our endeavour a success.

About Holy Cross College, Agartala

Holy Cross College (Accredited with Grade 'A' by NAAC) is a private English medium Catholic institution of higher learning; founded, animated and enlivened by the Congregation of Holy Cross, a community of scholarship and faith, anchored by a belief in the inherent dignity of each person. This institution provides opportunities of scholarship for academically qualified high school graduates predominantly from the state of Tripura and the north-eastern region of India. It is a Co-educational institution of higher learning in the traditions of the Congregation of Holy Cross with a clear focus on 'holistic education', educating the hearts and minds of the young. We are deeply grateful to all those who placed their trust in Holy Cross College. As HCC is in its 13th year of eventful and progressive journey, striving hard to provide quality education, we sincerely appreciate the confidence you have placed in us, your unconditional love has strengthened us to move forward in our sincere efforts of educating hearts and minds.

The temperature of Tripura during the month of January is pleasant. It is likely to be between 16 to 25 degree Celsius

Concept note

The goal of the Seminar is to discuss or present the current issues, challenges and alternatives for sustainable Growth & Development. In this proposed national seminar we are planning to bring students, research scholars, academicians, industry personnel and various other experts in one platform to confer on the problems and its probable solutions on the aforesaid theme "Roadmap for Inclusive Growth & Development of Indian Economy".

As India is slowly moving towards service sector and contribute highest (53.89%) towards GDP, whereas, manufacturing sector including micro and small enterprises has accounted for nearly 17% of India's GDP, but the sector has seen employment decline sharply in last 5 years - from employing 51 million Indians in 2016-17 to reach 27.3 million in 2020-21 (Business Standard, 2021). Hence we can see, there is a shift from agricultural economy to service-driven economy with almost no growth in industry, which is not a virtue; it is an outcome of policies that has hampered manufacturing and mining. With production costs rising in China, international buyers are looking for alternative sourcing destinations for manufactured products. If India, with its large labor force, is to seize this opportunity, it must nurture its industrial sector.

Our country is on the crossway of sustaining the pandemic in one hand on the other, to escalate the growth and development towards five trillion economies. It is quite often seen that the rebuilding process especially after pandemic is extremely challenging and making a roadmap for growth and development is very much essential. According to Gita Gopinath, MD IMF "the Indian Economy has been recovering but there's still quite a bit of gap between where it's right now and its potential in terms of the level of output that could have. There is underlying momentum where we should continue to see a recovery in consumption and investment. It's a gradual recovery compared to pre-pandemic trend.

Hence, there is ample opportunity for the research scholars and academicians from multidisciplinary (social science and humanities) to contribute ideas, issues and solutions based on research.

Sub-Themes:

A. Entrepreneurship Development:

1. Inclusive growth and new entrepreneur.
2. Focus on under presented groups while promoting entrepreneurship.
3. Employment, growth and development.
4. Consumption based growth and development.

Report on online photography competition organized by the Dept. Of Zoology, Holy Cross College, Agartala.

Date: 01/03/2023

'Zoology' is the science of studies on the various wonders of the animal world. Studies on the diversity of various specimens belonging to all the major and minor phyla of the animal kingdom holds a special place in the course curriculum of Zoology as well. The plethora of varied colours and patterns found across the animal world dazzles our mind every now and then.

Collection of Zoological specimens for further studies has been a common practice among the students/scholars of Zoology. But the ever dwindling number of animals has continued to endanger the diversity across the animal world. Nowadays every little effort towards conservation of biodiversity holds a profound meaning. Henceforth, killing of animals for laboratory studies is discouraged.

But the presence of camera in the hands of most of the young generation has opened up a new avenue in method of sample collection. Now vivid photographic sampling of animals in their natural environment has become possible. Keeping all these things in mind the Dept. Of Zoology, Holy Cross College, Agartala has organized an online photography competition. Where all the students with Zoology (major) were invited to participate in the aforementioned programme. They were asked to submit one photograph per contestant for the said purpose. All photographs were to be of living Zoological specimens in an undisturbed condition in their natural habitats.

A separate Whatsapp group was created where 36 students enrolled. The participants were given a week time for the submission of the final photograph. The wonderful collection of photographs put forward by the student participants amazed the faculty members across all the departments of Holy Cross College. There were colourful photographs of butterflies (class: Insecta; order: Lepidoptera) like Neptis hylas, Elymnias pealii, Danaus chrysippus, Eueides isabella put a flutter in every viewers mind. There were also pictures of Mastigoproctus giganteus (The giant whip scorpion, class: Arachnida, order: Uropygi), Musca domestica (Housefly, class: Insecta; order: Diptera), Locusta migratoria (Locust, class: Insecta; order: Orthoptera). Apis mellifer, Apis dorsata (Honey bee, class: Insecta; order: Hymenoptera) were also well represented.

Collaborative activity/ training program on vermicomposting and vermi -culture for students and non-teaching staffs

18/05/2023

On 18th of May the students of the 4th semester Zoology (Major) went to Maya Nursery, Khowai for the field visit and gaining knowledge on practical application of vermitechnology. College bus started from the campus of Holy Cross College, Agartala around 10 am in the morning. The student group was guided by Dr. Subhalaxmi Bhattacharjee and Dr. Rumki Nath Sen.

During the journey the students observed several hilly areas which were being prepared for jhum cultivation. The bus also stopped briefly at Setacchara Tourist Park where they observed wild banana plantations which are endemic to Tripura. The bus arrived at the destination at 11:45 am.

The guide and the owner of the nursery Mr. Bijoy Gope took the students on a tour around his farm and educated them regarding the use of vermicompost for better yields.

The whole nursery was free of chemical fertilizers or pesticides. It was like a place of inhaling fresh air oxygen without having any pollutants or chemicals in it.

At first he guided the students to a green house where new plantations were being grown, like strawberries (Fragaria ananassa), mint (Mentha sp), coriander (Coriandrum sativum), wax gourd (Benincasa hispida) etc. After seeing that site they headed towards exploring the other sites and plantations. There they saw dragon fruit (Hylocereus sp) plantation by grafting method, 7-8 types of mango (Mangifera indica) plantation, variegated guava (Psidium guajava) and Indian noni (Morinda citrifolia), jackfruit (Artocarpus heterophyllus), apple mango plantation (which is most rarely found in Tripura), banana (Musa sp)- (C-9) plantation. Mr. Gope explained that each and every plant is being grown by using vermicompost by using the method of “vermicomposting”, not even a single pinch of fertilizer were being used for these plantations over there.

After seeing and observing all the plantations we went to the key place of that nursery – The Vermicomposting Site.

The vermicomposting site consists of three pits and the composting was already done. Sir explained us the composting process and how the earthworms (Perionyx excavatus) most suitable for the vermicomposting works.

...ating hearts and minds

Mr. Gope explained that for vermicomposting the base of the pit is first prepared by filling it with sand and above the sand a mixture of garden waste, kitchen waste, organic waste, leaves, twigs is filled up. This is remained undisturbed for one month and allowed to decompose. During that one month water is regularly sprinkled in the pit to maintain the moisture of the prepared set up.

Then after one month the earthworms are released into the pit and they start consuming the organic waste. As result within a month or two the organic waste is transformed into vermicompost. Other factors like temperature, humidity, climatic conditions and weather also play an important role.

All the pits are shaded with a cemented ceiling to protect the earthworms from heavy rains.

There was a small channel attached to the pit. Mr. Gope told us that during the process when the pit is filled with excess amount of water that excess amount of water comes out through out that channel and this water is more beneficial and advantageous from vermicompost itself which is used in the plantations. And also the cemented walls made beside pit is a protection for the earthworms from the predators. Example – Bandicoota sp.

Report of Literary Fest 2023

Department of English organised the Literary Fest on 15th May, 2023. The topic of the fest was 'Unravelling Mystery and Romance in English Literature'. The students of 6th semester took the lead role by presenting posters based on the topic of the fest and the students of 2nd and 4th semester contributed to the fest by showcasing their creativity through canvas painting, pottery, vase painting, variety of homemade and traditional foods. Each year Department of English organised literary activities in the form of students' workshop, poster presentation by the students which brings out the creativity of the students. This year it was unique as the department for the first time has organised such fest where students were not restricted to academics. The intention behind this is bring out the skill of the students in various fields. The students of the final year have been assessed on the basis of their poster presentation and the way they explained their topic to the teachers.

The outcome of the fest is fruitful as students enjoyed the programme and was very much encouraged by showing their skills in various activities.

Student's participation on making "NEXUS"-the College wall magazine

September 2022

"Nexus" is a college main wall magazine displayed at the ground floor and adjacent to the left of office entrance. In every month of a semester, rotationally each department have to take the responsibility for preparing the Nexus display. The month of September 2022 was assigned to the Department of Human Physiology for display. The luck was not in favour with the Department itself because of the timing allotted. It was the timing that almost all the students were absent after finishing their Semester end exam. The students were informed previously about the schedule of 'Nexus' display and they happily accepted to be a part of the initiative. It was decided that the task of 50% was allotted to 5th Semester students and rest of the 50% task was taken by 3rd Semester students under the direct supervision of the departmental faculties. Finally, against all odds, the College open on 15th September and the students are gathered and started arranging their writings and notes, so that Nexus magazine board itself looks at its best way. On 16th September, after finalizing the idea of arrangement and order of writings, images, photos, graphics and models with the help of faculties of the department as guide; the students were started to prepare the making of Nexus display with great team afford. The final outcome in form of the wall magazine is itself expresses the hard work, extra afford and team spirit of the students, teachers and the departmental staff. The entire story is telling by the photographs attached below.

A one-day workshop on “Scientific Social Responsibility (SSR) for College Students” was organized on 31st March, 2023 by the College of Fisheries (CAU), Lembucherra, Tripura under the project entitled “Aquacultural Wastewater Management Through Integrated Biofloc Technology and Recirculating Aquaculture System for Reuse in Indian Major Carp Culture” sponsored by SERB, DST, Govt. of India. The workshop was attended by the faculty members of Zoology and Botany Dr. Anamika Bhaumik, Dr. Dipanwita Chaudhuri Sil, Dr. Debasree Lodh, Dr. Somnath Kar, Dr. Sudipta Sinha and Neha Sinha, B.Sc. Botany Honours, 3rd Semester student. Dean, College of Fisheries Prof. Ratan Saha was present as the chief guest of the program and guest of honour was Prof. M.K. Dutta, Head, Dept. FRM. The workshop started with felicitation of the chief guest and guest of honour by the PI of the project Dr. S.S. Mahanand, followed by an inspiring speech by the chief guest and guest of honour enlightening on the various aspects of aquaculture, waste water management and conversion of waste to wealth. The workshop consisted of various events which included an enriching lecture by the PI of the project on various aspects of aquaculture and biofloc technology. He also highlighted the significant achievements that have been attained under the project. We had a fruitful interaction with the resource persons of the workshop and were benefitted from their expertise about the intricacies of the aquaculture industry. Prof. M. K. Dutta gave an elaborate description about the rich collection of the fish museum and the fish barcode museum. The fish museum is registered as the one with the greatest number of preserved fish specimens in the country. We were enthusiastic about the display of ornamental fish species in the large fresh water aquariums. Along with these there was elaborate display of endemic fish varieties which are available in North-East India like Bangana devdevi, Mystus prabini, Garra arupi, Channa aristonei etc. All the state fishes of North East India were also shown like Ompok bimaculatus (State fish of Tripura), Neolisochilus hexagonolepis (State fish of Nagaland, Mizoram and Sikkim), Osteobrama

Report on One day Workshop on 'Zoonosis and Veterinary Hygiene' organized by NSS Unit, Holy Cross College, Agartala in collaboration with Dept. Of Zoology, Holy Cross College, Agartala.

Date: 19/01/2023

NSS Unit and the Dept. Of Zoology of Holy Cross College, Agartala, arranged a One day Workshop on 'Zoonosis and Veterinary Hygiene' on 18th January 2023. This program was arranged as a part of a seven day long NSS Special activity camp.

The venue of the aforesaid programme was set at the village Panchayat office of Sipai Para Village, Lefunga R.D. Block, West Tripura District, Tripura, 799210. This village was chosen because this is the adopted village of Holy Cross College, Agartala. The concept of Village Adoption entails development practice that is reflexive, and socially useful. It needs to result in improvement in the local situations, refinement of a local practice, and betterment in the conditions of living of the people of the concerned locality.

Maintaining livestock close to their home locations is a very common practise among the people of the locality. The workshop aimed to help, support and give learning on various aspects of health and hygiene of the domesticated animal population maintained by the inhabitants of this village. As a general practice, people are known to maintain a diverse population of various farm animals like pigs, poultry (chicken, ducks and pigeons), cows and goats. Regular house pets like dogs and cats were also maintained. All these animals were maintained well within the boundaries of people's homes. This ensures ample scope for the spread of various diseases from animals to humans and vice-versa (Zoonosis); if proper hygiene practices are not maintained.

Holy Cross College, Agartala, adopted Sipai Para with a mission to work along with the community at the grassroot level while enabling them to pursue and develop various positive impacts among the inhabitants of the concerned village. Through this particular workshop, the lack of awareness of various hygiene practices related to animal husbandry was addressed.

The resource person of this program was Dr. Seuli Saha Roy, Associate Professor, Department of Veterinary Public Health and Epidemiology, College of Veterinary Sciences and Animal Husbandry, R.K.Nagar, West Tripura, Tripura - 799008.

Here she enquired from the local people about the different species of animals they domesticate. She detailed the proper measures that should be followed while making enclosures for the animals. Report on One day Workshop on 'Zoonosis and Veterinary Hygiene' organized by NSS Unit, Holy Cross College, Agartala in collaboration with Dept. Of Zoology, Holy Cross College, Agartala.

NSS Unit and the Dept. Of Zoology of Holy Cross College, Agartala, arranged a One day Workshop on 'Zoonosis and Veterinary Hygiene' on 18th January 2023. This program was arranged as a part of a seven day long NSS Special activity camp.

The venue of the aforesaid programme was set at the village Panchayat office of Sipai Para Village, Lefunga R.D. Block, West Tripura District, Tripura, 799210. This village was chosen because this is the adopted village of Holy Cross College, Agartala. The concept of Village Adoption entails development practice that is reflexive, and socially useful. It needs to result in improvement in the local situations, refinement of a local practice, and betterment in the conditions of living of the people of the concerned locality.

Maintaining livestock close to their home locations is a very common practise among the people of the locality. The workshop aimed to help, support and give learning on various aspects of health and hygiene of the domesticated animal population maintained by the inhabitants of this village. As a general practice, people are known to maintain a diverse population of various farm animals like pigs, poultry (chicken, ducks and pigeons), cows and goats. Regular house pets like dogs and cats were also maintained. All these animals were maintained well within the boundaries of people's homes. This ensures ample scope for the spread of various diseases from animals to humans and vice-versa (Zoonosis); if proper hygiene practices are not maintained.

Holy Cross College, Agartala, adopted Sipai Para with a mission to work along with the community at the grassroot level while enabling them to pursue and develop various positive impacts among the inhabitants of the concerned village. Through this particular workshop, the lack of awareness of various hygiene practices related to animal husbandry was addressed.

The resource person of this program was Dr. Seuli Saha Roy, Associate Professor, Department of Veterinary Public Health and Epidemiology, College of Veterinary Sciences and Animal Husbandry, R.K.Nagar, West Tripura, Tripura - 799008.

A small play was performed by the students of the Department of Zoology which carried a clear message regarding the importance of maintaining proper veterinary hygiene. This very entertaining performance was followed by an elaborate lecture and a very engaging interactive session by Dr. Seuli Saha Roy.

Here she enquired from the local people about the different species of animals they domesticate. She detailed the proper measures that should be followed while making enclosures for the animals. She gave the clear idea about the food, medication and vaccination regimes that are appropriate for maintaining a healthy population of animal species. The excreta and the left over food of the animals needs to be disposed off with great care. The feed for the livestock needs to be of good quality as well. All

Subject-Seeking permission to organize two interdepartmental collaborative teaching learning activity.

Respected Father,

I am writing to request your permission to organize two (2) interdepartmental collaborative teaching learning special lectures at our college for the Department of History in the Even Semester 2023. One of the main advantages of interdepartmental collaborative teaching and learning is that it can assist students in understanding the connections between various courses. They may be able to think more deeply about complicated issues that call for a multidisciplinary approach as a result of developing a more integrated understanding of the world.

Interdepartmental collaborative teaching and learning also has the advantage of enabling teachers to expand their own skill sets and knowledge. Teachers can learn new teaching techniques, gain insights into various disciplinary viewpoints, and build a greater grasp of how various subjects relate to one another by working with colleagues from various departments.

We intend to set up a cooperative teaching arrangement, including the Sociology and Business Administration department. To avoid interfering with the regular teaching schedule, the schedule will be carefully designed. We are confident that this cross-departmental effort would benefit our college, and we would really appreciate your permission to move forward. We promise to plan these two events effectively and professionally, and we'll do all it takes to make sure everything goes according to plan.

Father, you would be pleased to know that for these collaborative sessions the Department of History has taken prior consent from both the heads of the Department of Sociology and the Department of Business Administration.

Name of the Resource Person	Topic of the Lecture	Department	Date and time of the Special Lecture	Signature of the HoDs
