Subject-Seeking permission to organize two interdepartmental collaborative teaching learning activity.

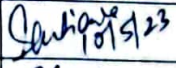

Respected Father,

I am writing to request your permission to organize two (2) interdepartmental collaborative teaching learning special lectures at our college for the Department of History in the Even Semester 2023. One of the main advantages of interdepartmental collaborative teaching and learning is that it can assist students in understanding the connections between various courses. They may be able to think more deeply about complicated issues that call for a multidisciplinary approach as a result of developing a more integrated understanding of the world.

Interdepartmental collaborative teaching and learning also has the advantage of enabling teachers to expand their own skill sets and knowledge. Teachers can learn new teaching techniques, gain insights into various disciplinary viewpoints, and build a greater grasp of how various subjects relate to one another by working with colleagues from various departments.

We intend to set up a cooperative teaching arrangement, including the Sociology and Business Administration department. To avoid interfering with the regular teaching schedule, the schedule will be carefully designed. We are confident that this cross-departmental effort would benefit our college, and we would really appreciate your permission to move forward. We promise to plan these two events effectively and professionally, and we'll do all it takes to make sure everything goes according to plan.

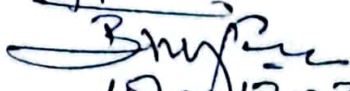

Father, you would be pleased to know that for these collaborative sessions the Department of History has taken prior consent from both the heads of the Department of Sociology and the Department of Business Administration.

"Origin, Growth and Importance of Trade Union"

Report

A Departmental Special Lecture was organized today on the very relevant topic of Origin, Growth and Importance of Trade Union, by the Department of History, which was delivered by Sri. Genesis Debbarma, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, Holy Cross College, Agartala. The lecture was arranged at the F2-09 classroom from 9:10 AM onwards and it went on till 10:11 AM. This particular lecture was organized under the initiative of the Interdepartmental Faculty Exchange Program of the Department of History, approved by the Father Principal of Holy Cross College, Agartala.

Sir Genesis, started his lecture by defining the term 'trade union' and then narrated the origin of the same from a strictly historical point of view. He also made a clear reference to the different stages of the growth of the concept of trade union, by making an elaborate mention of the "Industrial Revolution" and how the change had taken place in between the employer and working employee on the long run. Then sir has focused his lecture on the matter of trade union from an Indian perspective, traced down its origin in India with the arrival with the English East India Company on the Indian soil and gradually leading to the establishment of Cotton and Jute mills in Colonial Bengal in 1851 and 1855 respectively. Sir also made a vibrant description of the first factory commission and act of India in 1875 and 1881 AD respectively and its' application and criticisms, leading to the emergence of the second factory act in 1885 under the leadership of N.M. Lokhande. Sir ended his lecture with highlighting the long-term benefit of the trade union. There was a short question answer session followed by the lecture, where both the listener students and the invited speaker asked questions to each other. The program came to an end with the vote of thanks of the Head, Department of History. Thirty (30) students from the current batch of 2nd and 4th semester History Honours have registered and joined the Special lecture.
