

ONE DAY DEPARTMENTAL ORIENTATION PROGRAMME

13th SEPTEMBER 2022

ORGANISED BY DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

HOLY CROSS COLLEGE

Orientation programs are indispensable method of communication at the initial stage of student's college life. The major objective of departmental orientation was to make students comfortable in a new environment and make them aware about the departmental norms as well as course details. The orientation program began on 13th September 2022 early morning with energetic sessions of faculty members of sociology departments. The students were addressed by the Head of the Department, Ms. Sentienla, who welcomed the students and gave them an introduction regarding the academic disciplines, departmental norms, importance of attendance, about assignments and mentor-mentee system.

After that, Assistant HoD, Mr. Joel L. Darlong explained in details about the use of ICT, and importance of ICT in this course. Sir also explained about the use of official WhatsApp, Gmail, Google Doc, and so on. He introduces his website: <https://www.sociologylens.in/> and sociology department blog: <https://hccdepartmentofsociology.blogspot.com/>. He then discussed about the use of google classroom.

Next presenter was Dr.Sharmistha Chakraborty, Assistant Professor, explain about the department briefly, along with that analyse college life with some funny examples for refreshing students mind. After that she mentioned about social outreach club activities, and how to involve in different departmental activities like wall magazine, community services, etc.

After above three faculty members session one small students' activity was given. Firstly, students were divided into three groups. The groups were assigned to find out 'Who is Who' in the college i.e. they were asked to enquire about the designation and work pattern about the college office staffs, library staffs, etc. They were also instructed to collect the names and signatures of that particular staff member so that authentication of the work can be identified. After the lunch break student groups have to submit their works. And three groups participate actively and submitted their work.

After lunch break most important session was taken by Mr. Genesis Debbarma, Assistant Professor, which was ice-breaking session. One game was introduced by him called as "Two truth and one lie" Student were divided into group of three members where two member of a group will have to tell the truth about themselves and one of the member from the same team have to tell a lie, and the rest of the class have to observe and guess who was telling the lie. Faculty members also participated to make students comfortable.

After that session was kept open for students to asked any question to any faculty member. Many students asked about teachers hobbies, likeness and there perspective regarding their children, etc. Hence, the orientaion day ended up with a positiveness and many hopes as well as dreams.
