Report of Incubation Center Visit to Tripura University organized by the Department of Business Administration, Holy Cross College

On 17th May, 2024 (Friday), a group of 20 students of BBA 6th Semester accompanied by three faculty members from the Department of Business Administration, Holy Cross College, Agartala, visited Tripura University for an Incubation Center visit. The visit aimed to provide students with insights into incubation, entrepreneurship, and professional leadership.

Visit Overview:

Reception and Introduction:

Dr. Nirmalya Debnath, Assistant Professor of the Department of Business Management, Tripura University, warmly received the students and faculty members. He facilitated the visit to the first incubation center of Tripura University.

Incubation Center Introduction:

Prof. (Dr.) Ashish Nath, Professor of the Department of Economics and in-charge of the incubation center, provided an overview of its establishment and objectives.

Suitcase Water Purifier Project:

Er. Harjeet Nath, Assistant Professor of the Department of Chemical and Polymer Engineering, demonstrated the innovative project of preparing a suitcase water purifier. He highlighted the project's significance in addressing water crises in flooded areas. The purifier utilizes portable solar plates and a chargeable battery. Financial assistance of Rs. 20 lakh was received from various government schemes. The center has sold 4500 bottles of purified water, priced at Rs. 10 each, at different programs.

Second Incubation Center Visit:

Dr. Nirmalya Debnath guided the group to the second incubation center initiated by Prof. Shaon Ray Chaudhuri, Professor of the Department of Microbiology. This center focuses on manufacturing raw fiber jutes from Ramie plants and producing linen products which is certified by the Aditya Birla group. Additionally, the center is involved in producing coffee from beans harvested in Jampui hill of Tripura. These coffee and tea packets are now available on Amazon as well.
