Management”

Date: May 15 & 22 May, 2023

Venue: Room No. F2-18

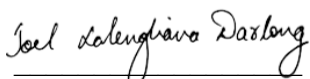

Timing: 2:00 pm:– 3:00 pm

The collaborative lecture series was conducted by Ms. Rupa Saha, an esteemed Assistant Professor from the Department of Business Administration (BBA), for the Sociology Honours students. The aim of this collaboration was to provide insights and perspectives from the business administration field that would enrich the learning experience for the students pursuing Sociology Honours.

The lectures, held on two separate occasions, covered essential topics such as Labor Management Relations, Participatory Management, and Human Resources Management. The first lecture took place on 15th May 2023 and was attended by 28 students from the Sociology Honours program. The second lecture occurred on 22nd May and had 30 students from the 6th semester of Sociology in attendance.

Ms. Rupa Saha's expertise in business administration, human resources management, and organizational dynamics made her well-qualified to deliver these valuable lectures. Through this collaborative effort, Sociology Honours students were exposed to multidimensional knowledge and practical insights, offering them a broader perspective on their field of study and its connections to business practices.

The success of this interdepartmental collaboration underscores the commitment of both the Department of Business Administration and the Department of Sociology to interdisciplinary learning and the mutual exchange of knowledge. By bringing together different academic disciplines, students were able to gain a more comprehensive understanding of their subjects, preparing them to tackle real-world challenges with a well-rounded skill set.

Subject- Permission to organize an interdepartmental collaborative teaching learning

Respected Father,

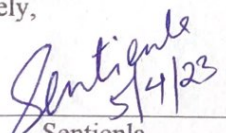

I am writing to request your permission to organize an interdepartmental collaborative teaching learning at our college for the Department of Sociology in the Even Semester 2023. One of the key benefits of interdepartmental collaborative teaching and learning is that it can help students to see how different subjects are interconnected. This can help them to develop a more integrated understanding of the world and to think critically about complex issues that require a multidisciplinary perspective.

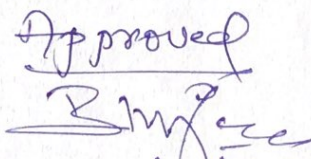

Another benefit of interdepartmental collaborative teaching and learning is that it can help teachers to broaden their own knowledge and skills. By working with colleagues from different departments, teachers can learn new teaching methods, gain insights into different disciplinary perspectives, and develop a deeper understanding of how different subjects relate to one another.

We plan to organize a collaborative teaching practice involving the Departments of History and Business Administration and Sociology. The schedule will be carefully planned to ensure that there is no disruption to the regular teaching schedule. We believe that this interdepartmental collaboration will be beneficial for our college, and we would greatly appreciate your approval to proceed. We are committed to organizing the event professionally and efficiently, and we will provide any necessary support to ensure it runs smoothly.

Thank you for your consideration. We look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

5/4/23
